<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Juggling is very good for your brain (www.superjuggling.ca) • You can learn to juggle in just 15 min day (Juggling for complete klutz book) • Juggling balls are very expensive (Amazon & ebay) • Juggling balls are easy to make (wiki how to) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I haven't been doing as well in my word work as I would like • I don't have very much money • I have time after dinner • I have the materials needed to make juggling balls • I am fairly coordinated 	I am coming to understand that Juggling is something I can do. I will make my own juggling balls out of socks and rice and practice 15 minutes each day after dinner I am coming to understand that juggling may help me improve in my word work
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • People can grow a lot of food even just on a balcony. (www.rooftopgardens.com) • Not all apartment owners let tenants grow gardens on balconies because of rats (Vancouver sun, Saturday edition) • Lots of people around Vancouver have gardens on their balconies (www.rooftopgardens.com) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Growing you own food is very satisfying (my friend told me she loves it) • I love fresh carrots and raspberries • I saw in my friend's apartment that rats have been seen climbing up to the 17th floor 	I am coming to understand that you don't have to be a farmer to grow your own food, and that lots of food can be grown in a very small space I coming to understand that maybe my family can save some money if we start a garden on our balcony. I am going to talk to my parents I am coming understand that growing gardens on balconies can cause problems and we will need to check with the apartment owner before we start a balcony garden
